DIES RATHER THAN FIGHT ILL HEALTH

Mrs. Mary E. Scheffer of Montrose Kills Herself In School Yard

With her lifeless hands holding the grim instruments of death—the left a glass that had contained a bichloride of mercury solution and the right her husband's .38 calibre revolver—the body of Mrs. Mary E. Scheffer, 554 Florentino avenue, Montrose, found yesterday near some bushes bordering the Montrose school yard, told mutely of her failure to overcome despondency due to ill health which followed an operation performed eighteen months ago.

Mrs. Scheffer had given up the long struggle and taken her own life.

Hears Fatal Shot

The discovery was made by H. B. Nidever, who heard the fatal shot while crossing the schoolyard at noon. Looking up he saw Mrs. Scheffer fall. He rushed to her side, and neighbors immediately summoned Dr. E. L. Wemple. Although the poison had not had time to do its work, the bullet had pierced her heart, and Dr. Wemple stated that death had been instantaneous. The bullet went clear through her body, coming out under the left shoulder blade.

Her husband, Joseph Scheffer, connected with the La Cresenta water company, had left for his work earlier in the day. Her lit-

Pleads With Jury To Release Harry Thaw From Asylum

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Indications that the insanity trial of Harry K. Thaw was rapidly nearing a close came this afternoon at 1:25 o'clock when attorneys opposing the release of Thaw from Kirkbride's asylum announced they had rested their case. It was indicated at this time that Thaw would not be recalled to the stand and that Evelyn Nesbit would not testify.

Dr. Burr said he had at the request of Arthur Dickson, attorney for the Thaw estate, examined Thaw three times.

"Thaw is suffering from mental insanity, although there was no evidence of intellectual insanity," he testified.

"Physically Thaw is in excellent condition. Thaw converses in a rather rational way, I found, although at times he becomes confused."

"I don't think Thaw can take care of himself. He probably would commit some abnormal act if released from discipline."

Thaw listened to Dr. Burr's testimony intently. The slayer of Stanford White was carefully groomed. He wore a neat dark blue suit.

QUIZ WILL TAKE ANTI-TRUST TURN

Alleged Failure to Enforce Dissolution Decrees Will Be Probed

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Daugherty investigation was directed today for the first time into charges of laxity on the part of the department of justice in enforcing the federal anti-trust laws.

Under a program laid down by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, the committee planned to devote the entire week to an investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty's enforcement of anti-trust dissolution decrees. The first case to be brought up was the so-called "tobacco trust" case and a number of railroad cases.

The tobacco cases, it was said, will produce new sensations and the committee summoned Huston Thomson, chairman of the federal trade commission, as a surprise witness. Thomson was to tell of complaints issued by the commission against various concerns reported violating the trust laws.

FINAL CALL FOR ELEANORA DUSE

Famous Italian Tragedienne Dies of Influenza In Pittsburgh Hotel

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—The curtain went down for the last time in the life of Eleanora Duse, the 64-year-old famous Italian tragedienne, at 2:30 o'clock this morning, when she died at a local hotel here after suffering two weeks from influenza.

Dr. Charles J. Barone and the Honorable Catherine Onslow, the actress' companion, were the bedside when the end came, according to hotel attaches.

La Duse's death was unexpected, as it was reported late yesterday that she was somewhat improved.

Madame Duse's last appearance before the public was in this city, April 5, when she appeared in "The Closed Door" to an enthusiastic audience that packed the theatre. It was a few days after this performance that the actress was stricken with influenza and was forced to cancel the rest of her engagements in the United States. She showed some improvement and seemed to be out of danger when, last Wednesday, there was a turn for the worse.

The After House

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

THE STORY

This is a thrilling tale of murder, mystery and love. A happy group of friends started out to sea on a pleasure cruise in the yacht Ella—people of breeding, wealth and position. But trouble sailed with them. And trouble for a time got the better of them all—the lovely girl, the lovelorn deck steward, the dissipated owner, his anxious wife, the charming divorcee, the man of the world, and a motley group of superstitious sailors—a hodge-podge of characters, motives and passions, all working together toward that terrible night of August 12, when hell seemed loose on a painted sea.

I—FATE PLAYS A TRICK

By the request of an elder brother, I was left enough money to see me through a small college in Ohio and to secure me four years in a medical school in the East. Why I chose medicine I hardly know. Possibly the career of a surgeon attracted the adventurous element in me. Perhaps, coming of a family of doctors, I merely followed the line of least resistance. It may be, indirectly, but inevitably, that I might be on the yacht Ella on that terrible night of August 12, more than a year ago.

I got through somehow. I played quarterback on the football team, and made some money coaching. In summer I did whatever came to hand, from charter-

Thousands Present at Easter Ceremonies Sunday on Mount Forest Lawn

Fully 7000 people, declared by many to be the greatest throng ever assembled within the Glendale city limits, yesterday greeted the Easter dawn from the summit of Mount Forest Lawn with a program impressive and inspiring.

From the moment that the first liquid notes of "Reveille" rippled down over the city from the bugle quartet stationed at four vantage points, each many blocks distant, until the last solemn words of the "Benediction" blest the worshippers who thus beautifully honored the memory of Gethsemane, the vast audience was held breathless by the superb program.

DEATH SHOWS LOVE LURE AND SACRED EMBLEM

Rich Man, Occult Student, Takes Poison; Woman Friend Collapses

By C. R. SIMMONS

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Theodore G. Beavers, wealthy Canadian wheat raiser and Minneapolis broker, is dead, the victim of one of the strangest pacts in the annals of local police records. He was found at 2 o'clock this morning in a downtown hotel crying out to attendants, "I know I am a coward, but this must be done." They saw him gulp glass after glass of a poison potion.

In his effects were found a coral bead with a love story thereto that carries with it the romance of the Orient; the book "Vendanta" by Raja Yoga, and literature on the Sacred Science faith of which he was a devotee.

He was identified by a friend as a director of the Buttress Manufacturing company of this city, a man of wealth and leisure, in the prime of life. An inquest will be held today.

Called Sacred Emblem

The bead, which his friend said was a sacred emblem to the dead man, led investigators to the home of Miss Evelyn Polon, aged 32, whom Detectives Parsons and Stever interviewed this morning. She resides at 820 South Burlington street. She and Mr. Beavers had been friends since childhood and had been his only love for the last sixteen years.

Only last Friday, she told the Southland News Service writer, they had made a pledge of mutual faith, at the behest of Beavers, inasmuch as he said she might have a "great surprise" in a few days.

When she was informed of her fiancé's death, she had just been told by a friend that he had "died" voice she cried out: "It's de Bit!"

Woman Faints

And then she fainted, to be revived by reporters. It was learned that Ralph N. de Bit is a lecturer on occult science at the School of Sacred Science, which seemed to be the fountain head of Beavers' faith, which is in other legal trouble, it is alleged, with Mrs. Emma Adams suing for $5,000 she says she gave de Bit. The coral bead in the suicide's

Minister Raps Aged
Flappers in Address

NEW YORK, April 21.—Three hundred boys and girls in their teens rose and cheered Rev. Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, Epworth League preacher of Chicago, when the preacher said they were paragons of the church and the world, and decried the practices of their elders in using powder and dressing to the extreme of fashion.

"Let us reverse the numerals," said Dr. Gratz. "Don't find fault with the girls of fourteen, fifteen or sixteen. I want to speak of the flappers of forty-one, fifty-one and sixty-one."

"If they would repent of their sins, wash off their paint and powder, dress decently and come and kneel at the altar they would have no trouble with the boys and girls."

The youthful audience had come prepared to hear a severe lecture. Dr. Gratz was in New York as delegate to a Methodist conference and the junior church members were crestfallen on hearing the minister had a message which he especially desired to address to them.

Dr. Gratz had no patience with the flappers of today. He was tired of having fault found with them from dawn to bedtime. He saw no cause to laugh at bobbed hair, poking fun at their ideas of amusement or censoring books they read.

Boobs, Lounge Lizards
Scored by Educator

PORTLAND, Ore., April 21.—Too many "boobs and lounge lizards" are being sent from high school to normal school and college now and the superintendents and principals of the schools of the northwest therefore have no right to complain of the quality of teachers turned out for them by the institutions of teacher training.

This was the opinion expressed at the superintendents' and principals' section of the inland educators' association by Superintendent Paul Johnson of the Ellensburg schools. He voiced this view after a number of other educators had spoken for a high standard of training before certificates to teach should be granted, a question brought before the section.

"Of course," said Mr. Johnson, "we graduate such students, but we do it to get rid of them—and the normal schools do the same thing. But we don't recommend them for college entrance unless in their courses in high school they win for themselves a certain amount of honor credits by a system we have adopted."

Social Events

Give Benefit Tea

With the passing of Lent social activities are renewed with added fervor for the ideal spring and early summer days are real inspirations for entertaining and being entertained.

A most popular event to take place in the fifth week in April, following closely upon the quiet atmosphere of the Lenten season, is the benefit bridge and Mah Jongg tea to be given by the Glendale College Women's club.

The affair, which is to raise money for the club scholarship fund, is to take place at the picturesque home of Mrs. E. B. Sutton, "Twin Pines" at 727 East Windsor road.

Tables are to be arranged in the spacious living room, music room, dining room and on the north patio. Bridge and Mah Jongg will be played and attractive prizes are to be awarded late in the afternoon, just before tea is served.

The affair is not confined to club members nor to people who play bridge and Mah Jongg, all members of the club and friends are most cordially invited to attend and enjoy the social time together.

Tickets for the affair can be secured from any of the following club members, who compose the club's executive board and the special committee arranging the benefit: Mesdames A. L. Ferguson, R. L. Holland, Warren Roberts, D. F. Reichard, Frank Ayars, J. H. Toal, George T. Harness, W. E. Lusby, J. M. Stadt, Paul E. Webb, Helen Moore, F. W. Line, S. L. Gillan, Misses Hazel White, Ida D. Myers, Ruth Boyd and Katherine V. Sinks.

With Miss Jones

The home of Miss Esther Jones at 513 Fischer street was the scene recently of two informal social affairs, occurring the same day.

In the afternoon Miss Jones entertained a group of friends with a hiking party, followed by games, music and refreshments.

That evening when she returned home from the Philatelic banquet she was surprised to find a company of friends waiting to celebrate her birthday.

Because a mountain trip had to be given up because of the quarantine, everything for the birthday party carried out the outing idea.

The guests were seated about the big fireplace on camp stools and also on the floor, and the fire, fern and wild flowers attracted the company on the long mantle.

Out door games and music were enjoyed and picnic refreshments served in picnic style. Marshmallows were toasted before the glowing fire in the fireplace.

The company includes Charlotte Cleveland, Pauline Wilson, Leone Percy, Esther Jones, Gladys Jones, Clarice Thompson of Pasadena, Ernest Schockley, Glenn Perkins, William Hallam, Glenn Logan of Los Angeles.

From Japan

Miss Edith Hagin daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Fred E. Hagin of 634 North Howard street, who has been engaged in the missionary fields in Japan for this past year and a half, arrived in San Francisco last Tuesday, April 15, where she was greeted by her mother, sister and friend, Mrs. Fred E. Hagin, Miss Fannie Alice Hagin and Miss Hazel Everett.

Mrs. Hagin and Miss Everett, who made the trip north by automobile, returned home the coast route and the Misses Hagin made the trip by rail, arriving home early Saturday morning. Miss Fannie Hagin has been attending the University of California, at Berkeley and recently suffered a nervous breakdown. She does not expect to return to school this year.

Miss Edith Hagin has had many interesting experiences during the recent earthquake in Japan. A number of her letters were published in The Glendale Evening News a few months ago, relating some of her experiences during the disaster and proved very interesting to Glendalians and her intimate friends. Miss Hagin will be glad to greet her many friends at the home of her parents at the address given above.

Sponsors Benefit

Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, chairman for cooperation with ex-service men and women for the Tuesday Afternoon club, is assisting in plans for the benefit card party to be given Thursday, April 24 at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles.

The executive board will meet at 2 o'clock to discuss important business connected with the opening of the school cafeteria and all members of the board are urged to be present if possible.

Presents Recital

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy of 1004 East Raleigh street, member of the professional department of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, for her recital, which she is planning on giving Saturday night, May 3, in the Knights of Pythias hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Murphy will be assisted by two guest artists, Miss Dorothy Peart, contralto soloist, and Miss Lois Percy, piano accompanist.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horn of 221 North Louise street entertained with a birthday dinner party Saturday, complimenting Miss Helen Van Slyke, who has recently returned from a four months' trip abroad. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Van Slyke of Los Angeles.

Farewell Honor

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Higgins and Mrs. Emma Dana, mother of Mrs. Higgins, all of Athol, Mass., were guests of honor at a delightful informal social affair Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Walker, 710 East Harvard street, when relatives and friends, all former residents of Massachusetts, principally of West Boylston, gathered from many points in southern California to bid farewell to the honor guests before they left for their home in the east.

The day, April 19, was especially appropriate for the reunion, as this date is celebrated in their home state as "Patriots' Day."

The Walkers are descendants in a direct line of the "minute men," and many of the guests and at least one member of every family represented at this gathering had at one time been a resident of West Boylston, the Walkers' ancestral city.

The rooms of the home were decorated with patriotic colors, small American flags being used. A picnic luncheon was served at noon.

Mrs. Dana has been enjoying a year's visit in California as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edward Ross, and many other relatives now located on the coast. The host, Frederick B. Walker, is their nephew. Mrs. Dana's daughter, Mrs. Higgins, and her husband, arrived recently, and with Mrs. Dana, left this morning for their home in Athol, Mass.

Those present were Mrs. Emma Dana, Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, of Athol, Mass.; Mrs. Sarah E. Blanchard, Mrs. Mary Haskins, Gordon, Mrs. Helen Price Bush, Kenneth Bush and Melville W. Walker, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Walker, Harriet and Kenneth Walker, Mrs. Alice Walker Tyler, Beatrice and Grace Tyler and James Harrington, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Ross, of Burbank; Florence L. Haskins, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Field, Lydia and Ross Field, of Tustin, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Brockman, Anna and Alice Brockman, of Hemet, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Walker, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Carleton Walker, Miss Faith Tarling, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Walker and sons, Stanley, William and Melville, and daughter, Rosemary.

Charter Members

Mrs. Jay Crawford of East Piedmont street, and Mrs. James Crawford, daughter, Minnie Crawford, of East Hermosa street, Montrose, are charter members of the new circle of Neighbors of Woodcraft, just organized in Glendale.

Mrs. Chrisman, who has been a member of the order for eight years in Colorado, was transferred to the new chapter, and was elected musician, as was Minnie Chrisman, who was a member of the juvenile Woodcraft organization, and was selected as a member of the drill team. Mrs. Crawford is a new member, and was elected one of the managers.

Three Hostesses

Mrs. Carol Koltz, assisted by Mesdames Mabel Hester and Josephine Brant, entertained Chapter BA, P. E. O., on Friday at the Koltz home at 914 East Elk street.

Following the business session, directed by Mrs. Josephine Brant, president of the chapter, luncheon service was given by Mrs. C. Young of Chapter AH; Mrs. Joseph Wilson and Mrs. Perry Rogers, Mrs. Seymour Smith, Chapter L; Misses Rebecca Brant and Beatrice Case.

Mrs. Laura Kille, in charge of the afternoon program, conducted the study of the Constitution.

Informal Affair

The home of Carl Johnson on Montrose avenue was the scene one evening recently of a most enjoyable informal affair. Cards, games and dancing were the diversions and at a late hour refreshments were served.

The company included Mr. and Mrs. Plunkett, Mr. and Mrs. Collins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kettle, Mr. and Mrs. Thum, Miss Katherine Knouse of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chrisman, son and daughter and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Hester, pastor of the First Methodist church, before a large company of relatives and friends.

Miss Randall was attended by her sister, Miss Marion Randall, and a maid of honor.

Arthur Snell attended Mr. Powell as best man.

Preceding the reading of the marriage vows the "Lobster" wedding march was played by Miss Irene Kennedy.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Randall home, when a buffet luncheon was served to forty-five guests.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Powell left by automobile for Long Beach and Fullerton. They returned to Glendale Saturday night and will be glad to greet their many friends at their home, 131 South Pacific avenue.

VIRGINIA LEE CORBIN, who has been chosen to play the title role in Barrie's ever-popular play.

Barrie's stage success, "Peter Pan," which is to be undertaken by the Famous Players-Lasky studio in Hollywood, sees one of the baby stars of 1924 stepping into the limelight as the leading character. Virginia Lee Corbin, the talented actress who has been cast for the part of Peter Pan, will, it is predicted, follow the pathway to fame in the footsteps of Maude Adams.

HATFIELD READY TO ASSURE RAIN

Promises to Produce Yearly Fall of Twelve Inches On Long Contract

HANFORD, April 21.—If the people of the central San Joaquin valley will re-engage him for several years he will contract to produce rain from eight to twelve inches annually, from Bakersfield to Los Banos, declared Rain Maker Hatfield of Glendale, Cal., in this city today.

He would, however, start operations in February instead of March and have a better location, preferably some twenty-five miles northwest of here in some mountain pass where the air currents would be favorable.

He said he operated for eight years in the northern part of the valley near Crows Landing, and changed the conditions of the farmers there from poverty to affluence. He has, at the request of those who obtained his services here, agreed to give this locality preference on a rain-producing contract next year.

SHUN DISHONEST TAX EXPERTS, IS CHIEF'S WARNING

Revenue Official Reveals Plans for Protection of Taxpayers

Determined efforts of the Internal Revenue Bureau to prevent dishonest income tax experts and unscrupulous practitioners from representing taxpayers who have cases pending before the Treasury Department are disclosed in a statement from Commissioner David H. Blair, which will be submitted to the special Senate committee now investigating the bureau.

Collector Rex B. Goodell was today authorized to make public certain parts of the commissioner's statement. With more than $25,000,000 due citizens of Southern California in refunds owing to the community property decision and other retroactive tax-reducing rulings, the safeguards erected by Commissioner Blair to protect the interests of taxpayers who have made over-payments and must file claims for refund, will be of special interest to the people of the Los Angeles district.

Score Criticism
 "Much criticism has been made of the bureau because of the practice before the department of former employees, who have, it is claimed, gained valuable experience while in the government employ and thereafter used the knowledge thus acquired when appearing for clients on tax matters," the commissioner's statement says. "Most of this criticism is unjustified because there is nothing in the law or regulations to prevent a former employee from practicing before the department merely because he has been connected with the government service. Experience has shown that persons familiar with the law and procedure who represent taxpayers are in many instances helpful to the government in making proper disposition of cases. However, some of the complaints are well taken because in rare instances men in the government service have gained definite knowledge with reference to a particular case and have resigned with the idea in the presentation of this same case before the bureau."

"Where such facts have been revealed the former employee has been disbarred from practice, and prosecuted where the facts warranted it. I have no doubt that instances of this nature have occurred where the individual formerly employed by the government made no appearance in person in the prosecution of the case before the department, but presented the case through others. Every effort has been made to prevent occurrences of this character, but under the present law it cannot be entirely eliminated."

Officials Powerless
 "The department cannot prevent employees from resigning and unless the former employee makes application to practice and to appear in a particular case the government has no effective means of reaching him. Taxpayers are usually unwilling to disclose to the government officials advances made to them by former employees of the bureau, because of the fear that their

STARTS IN REAL ESTATE BUSINESS

Sunrise Realty Co. Plans to Handle Listings for Local Property

Mrs. H. L. Miller, who recently sold her business in Hollywood, announces the opening of a real estate office at 1610 South San Fernando boulevard, with R. E. Brewer, under the firm name of the Sunrise Realty company.

A general real estate business is being conducted and Mrs. Miller hopes to see many of her old friends at the new location. She states that at present the company desires listings of all sorts and is in addition handling business chances.

Both Mrs. Miller and Mr. Brewer are residents of Glendale and are well known here. They have great faith in south Glendale but wish it understood that they handle general Glendale real estate and are not limited to property in that district.

Disease Wave Has Own Silver Lining

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—As a deterrent of crime in southern California, the foot-and-mouth disease has wrought more of a change in police records during the last ten days than any factor designed for the purpose.

The criminal element understands that it cannot get past the quarantine officers, along the highways without a running gun battle, and so these special deputies of local, federal and state officers are turned loose into the streets.

As a result, there has been a noticeable falling off in the reports of holdups, safe blowings and the like. The same is said to hold true in other southern cities.

BATTLE OF HAIR CONTINUES, BOBS AND UNBOBS TIE

Today's Score Is Three All; Poetry Is Entered in Verbal Barrage

"Is better to have bobbed and let grow, than never bobbed at all, is the way this bobbed hair question begins to look at the present time. This battle of centuries, which has been staged serially in the columns of The Glendale Evening News in much the same order as a super-six thriller made in Hollywood, waxes warm again today.

There are six more rounds, and once more the decision is a draw. The whole trouble, it appears now, will not be settled for some time, but when it is, it will be by a hair's breadth.

Individuality is the plea of the writer who signs her communication with the elongated signature of "One of the Long Haired Ladies." She shudders at the thought of bobbed hair, compulsory, with perhaps a non-too-pleasant thought of what would happen to the vast army of hairdressers. Well, just so long as it is not as contagious as the smallpox, or as closely guarded as the foot and mouth disease, folks should worry. Hark'n to her logic.

Not All Bobbed
 "Yes! there are still some long-haired ladies in Glendale. You remarked you would like to hear from some of us.

"Have you noticed we are the only ones who have retained our individuality? The bobbed-haired young argument, but never follow the advice they give to others. It's more easy to say Scripture than to live it. Ever found that way?

I surely love the dear old Book, but never like to use it as an argument, it is too precious for that. M. B. H. H., I said, give the women time and they will find out where bobbed hair came from. The first one I remember reading about whose hair was bobbed was Samson, and a woman did the bobbing, so there!!

Right Back at Him
 Jane Doe, who has a habit of speaking her mind freely, and without fear, when the matter of shorn tresses is brought up, comes back today with a reply to M. B. H. H., and has a few tense matters to bring to that writer's attention.

Jane has an idea that M. B. H. H. is a man, one of those mere mortals, but far be it from the Bobbed Hair Editor to divulge any confidences or to give away any secrets. Here is what Jane has to say on the subject:

Dear Editor, both of the Bobbed and the Unbobbed.—There was a letter, in your column, not long ago, from a person, who signed M. B. H. H., (but between you and me I think it is a man, don't you?) He quotes the Bible, doesn't he? Reckon he knows the best of the best of books, as well as he knows that verse, or is that all of the Bible he knows? Maybe he hunted that up for the occasion. Some men are known to quote Bible, when they want a strong argument, but never follow the advice they give to others. It's more easy to say Scripture than to live it. Ever found that way?

I surely love the dear old Book, but never like to use it as an argument, it is too precious for that. M. B. H. H., I said, give the women time and they will find out where bobbed hair came from. The first one I remember reading about whose hair was bobbed was Samson, and a woman did the bobbing, so there!!

"Oh, Rats," She Says
 Besides, if a woman is naughty, naughty or even wicked aren't the chances even as to which can be the awfulest, the long haired beauties or their bobbed haired sisters?

Course, the glory of a woman is her hair, but if said hair is only about three inches longer than a bob, and it requires about three swishes, car puffs, nearly a box of hair pins, besides a hair-net, to hold it all in place, looks like it is more honest looking to have it short, but all your own.

And M. B. H. H., didn't the men wear their hair long and a beard besides in the Bible times? M. B. H. H., do you wear your hair long and have you a beard and moustache? I'll bet you a "Coco Cola" that you are smooth shaven, am I right?

Ever see a woman who dressed so plainly that it tired one's eyes to look at her, and who wore her hair combed straight back, with a knot at the back of her head and never put a dab of powder or her nose? Would you want her for your wife? This is me and myself, "JANE DOE" speaking again. E. S. Are you glad you are baldheaded? My Bobbed Hair Hater, don't get peeved will you?

Looks Kinda Funny
 The Bobbed Hair Editor has no desire to cause any domestic troubles over this question of how much hair shall Ann wear, nor is any attempt made to solve it, but the reader is asked to compare the following letter with that of "Jane Doe" which appears above. The police reporter, who thinks he is just twice as good as "these city detectives," took one glance

Who Is the Home Merchant?

The home merchant, who is he? He is the chap who gave you credit when you were financially broke, and carried your account until you were able to pay.

He is the chap who gives you back your money or makes exchanges when you are not satisfied with what you have bought.

He is the chap who meets you at the door with a handshake, and lets you out with a message to the "kids" and a real "come again, good-bye."

He is the chap whose clerks live in the home town and spend their money with you and other local people.

He is the chap who helps support our churches and charitable organizations, and talks for the home town and boosts for it every day in the year.

He is the chap who visits you when you are sick, sends flowers to your family when you die, and follows your body out among the trees and tombs as far as human feet may travel with the dead.

He is the home merchant—your neighbor—your friend—your helper in time of need.

Don't you think you ought to trade with him, and be his friend and helper in time of need?

Don't you know that every dollar you send out of town for merchandise is sent to strangers—to men who never spend a dollar here? You don't save much, frequently nothing, when you send your money out of town. And, don't you know that the growth and prosperity of this town depend very largely upon the success and prosperity of the home merchant? Out of town people judge our city by the appearance of our stores and the degree of enterprise shown by our merchants. And our home merchants cannot succeed unless home folks give them loyal support.

Remember—The home merchant pays taxes in the same county with you.

May Suspend Dealers Breaking Packer Law

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Suspension of market agencies and dealers subject to the packers and stock yards act by the secretary of agriculture for insolvency or violations of law is provided in a bill reported from the house agriculture committee. In emergencies the suspension may be temporary, not exceeding thirty days on two days' notice. This additional power of the secretary is considered necessary to keep an open and competitive market.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Lord give us strength to do what Thou dost command; and then command whatsoever pleaseth Thee.
—St. Augustine.

LOVE EVEN UNTO DEATH

Mother love is a theme eternal, subject of a thousand daily columns in the newspapers of a hundred nations, more or less. But every so often there comes flashing over the wires and clicking into the telegraph keys of the world's dailies some variant on the ageless theme that makes ten million hearts beat faster. Such a story is the following, caught by The Glendale Evening News in its drag-net of world happenings.

The story is about Mrs. D. R. Crocker of Grand Junction, Colo., who saved her baby from death in an inferno of flame, receiving burns from which she will doubtless succumb. It was on the third floor of the house, following the explosion of a kerosene stove. Escape by the door was shut off. Across the room, untouched as yet by the roaring flames, lay her babe, sleeping. The mother snatched the child, wrapped it in several folds of bedclothing and, herself a living torch, leaped through an unopened window and plunged flaming to the ground. The child was not harmed. The woman no doubt will die. Had she chosen to let the baby burn and save herself, she might have escaped unhurt.

Magnificent! Sublime! And yet, like men's sacrifice for their country, it is a quality inherent in women, that thing called mother-love, a quality not to be matched by any other passion with which humanity is endowed, common alike to princesses and peasants, the great democracy of womanhood.

EDUCATION AND REAL LIFE

Educators everywhere are interested in watching Antioch college at Yellow Springs, Ohio, where entirely novel methods of education are being tried out. The college is only three years old, but the Antioch plan, originated by the president, Arthur E. Morgan, promises to put new life into our educational system.

The plan is simply that the student has five weeks of serious college study alternated with five weeks of work at a real job. This is not for the purpose of self-support but because this college president believes education should not isolate the individual from reality; that the college should help the student find himself so that he can go from school to the serious business of life with a minimum of lost motion. By this method the period of experimentation common to boys and girls after they leave college is put back into the college course and they find the work for which they are fitted by actual experience. President Morgan believes this method develops courage, initiative and a sense of responsibility.

Yellow Springs is near to four of Ohio's larger cities and the students find work in the manufacturing and commercial establishments of these cities.

RECORD TOURIST INVASION

Every indication points to a new high water mark in the summer tourist invasion this season. By train, by automobile, by boat, afoot and via the air, one might add with reasonable veracity, hundreds of thousands of visitors, in the aggregate, will make Southern California their objective within the next three months. Morris Rathbun of the Automobile Club of Southern California says:

"I have a letter from the auto editor of the Chicago Daily News in which he says that as soon as the first robin chirps about half of Cook County will jump into automobiles and beat it for Southern California."

The same condition prevails elsewhere. It is a reaction of human nature to the urge of spring. And think what it means to us, here in Glendale, the closest suburban city to Los Angeles. It means that we will be visited by a large proportion of these tourists in the first few days of their sojourn in the Southland, while their impressions are still largely unformed. Seeing Glendale is believing. Greater prosperity and a greater city is the gift of the tourists—our future residents.

MODESTY PREVENTS

Away back in 1906, when a dozen pretty names had been chosen for as many sub-divisions in Los Angeles, we thought future sub-divisions would have to suffer. It didn't seem possible to concoct an endless number of titles, each with a poetical and silvery lilt. But now, with several hundred sub-divisions—each name more alluring than the one that preceded it—we know we misjudged the resources of the advertising fraternity. They have everything from Pepper Tree Trail to Angels' Retreat, but the end is not yet. If it were not sacrilegious so to do, Los Angeles long ago would have had its "Garden of Eden." As a matter of fact many of the sweet singers of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce do refer to their city as the Garden of Eden. But, of course, if this name ever were seriously proposed for any part of Southern California, Glendale feels certain it could be applied to but one place. Genuine modesty prevents us from being more frank or going farther into details.

From New York, the center of art and culture in the United States, or so New York would have us believe, comes this story. A wife interrupted her husband who was reading to her from the newspaper to ask, "What are Gompers?" That incident couldn't have happened in Glendale, the city which hundreds of the intelligent women of the southwest chose as a meeting place recently, although New York may think us wild and woolly.

Some author (was it Fannie Hurst?) has said that the average intelligence of the motion picture audience equals that of a fourteen-year-old child. That was a mean cut, but maybe she exaggerated after all. In a Glendale theatre the other evening this title was thrown on the screen, "She Went Down to Her Gethsemane." A man in the audience was heard to ask his wife, "What's a Gethsemane?"

Hollywood man wants to know if a fellow with several corns on his feet and an ulcerated tooth in his jaw, might be suffering—unconsciously—with the hoof and mouth disease. No, sir! All he needs is a pair of larger shoes and a trip to the dentist.

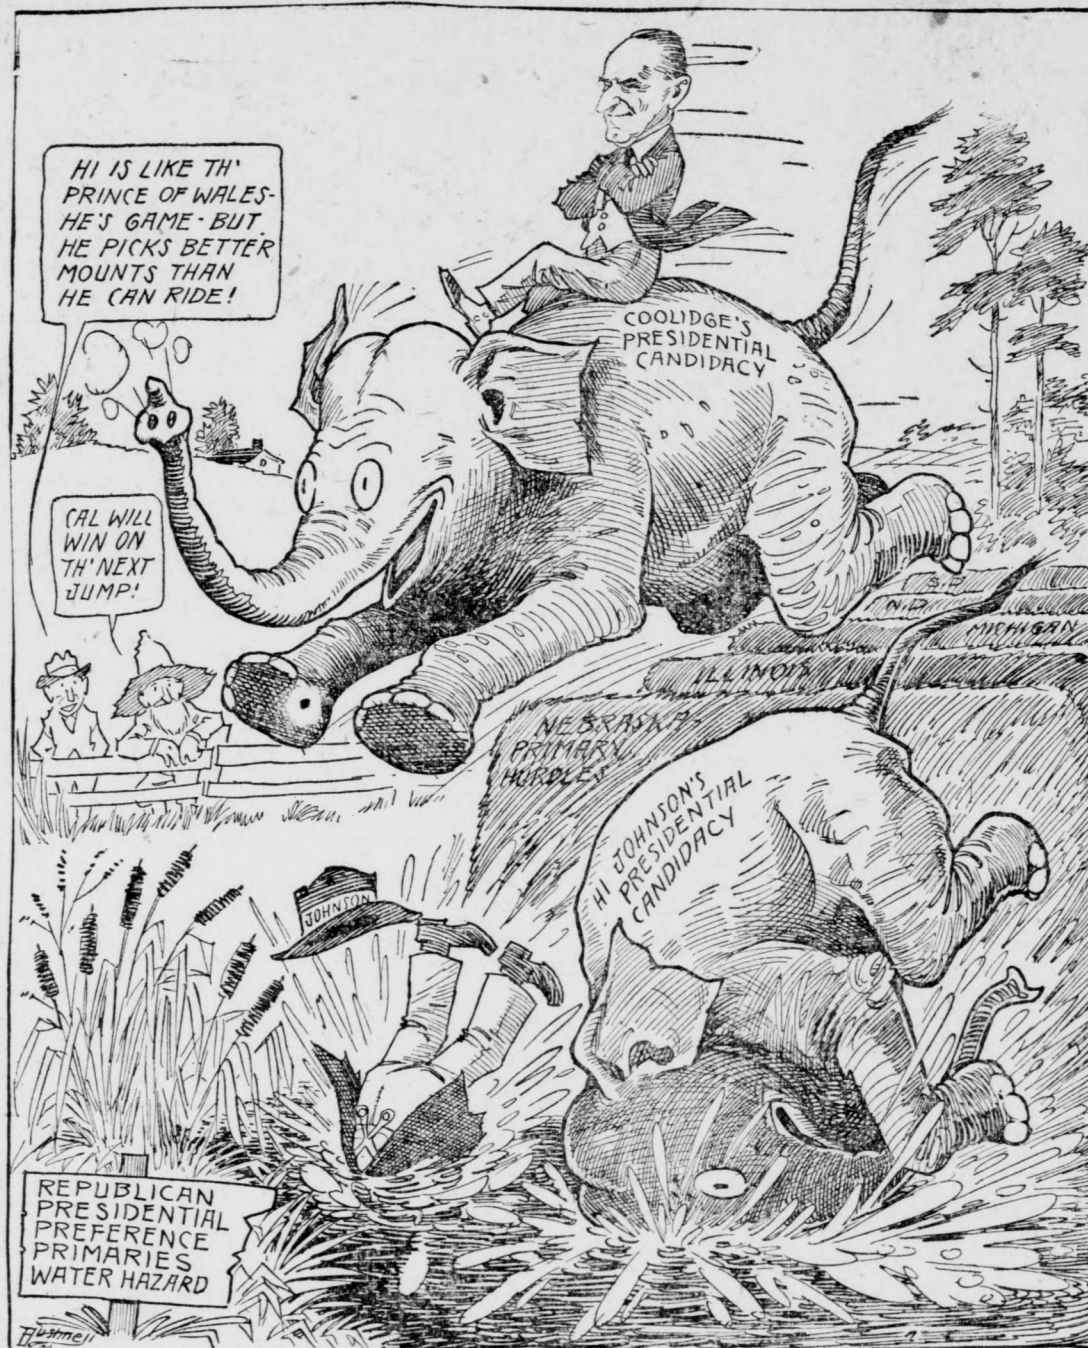

The village blacksmith seems doomed to extinction; but the village cracksmith still grinds out his daily column.

Some of those small, tightly-twisted moustaches, a few of the men are wearing, suggest as a name "The Cat's Whiskers."

Occasionally one meets a man who is as smart as he thinks he is, but you never would know it from his conversation.

Wild flowers and weeds will soon be at their best.

ROUGH RIDERS IN THE GREAT CROSS-COUNTRY REPUBLICAN NOMINATION STEEPLECHASE

Scandal

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The heaviest item of news for some time past has consisted of scandal.

There is the Teapot Dome scandal. It was charged that lands belonging to the government, lands containing petroleum supplies, had been sold to private parties and that the transaction had been tainted with fraud.

Then there was the scandal connected with the Veterans' Bureau.

Investigating committees of the United States Senate have been unearthing all sorts of transactions more or less crooked.

Senators, Representatives, prominent business men, members of the Cabinet, Presidents and ex-Presidents have been more or less spattered by the flying mud. The national nominating conventions of the two parties are approaching, and unfortunately scandal-mongering is not without its uses in those bitterly partisan bodies. It is time for sober citizens to keep their heads and to seek to do justice in a way that will not produce more injustice as a by-product.

If any man has been guilty of wrong-doing he should be punished, so long as we are operating under the law of rewards and punishments.

It might be well, however, to bear in mind that there is a great deal of difference between charging one with a crime and proving it.

Senators and Representatives are privileged to say things that no outside citizen would dare to say. The temptation is very great to make reckless statements. Unfortunately, there are plenty of blatherskites in both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

For this reason the public should suspend judgment until the facts have been proved.

Scandal is like mud; it is easy to throw and hard to scrape off.

Only too many people are anxious and willing to believe any sort of evil of prominent persons. I have been in Washington, I have attended the sessions of the Senate and the House and also those of the investigating committees. My own judgment is that the majority of public men are honest. It is difficult for a dishonest man to remain very long in public life on account of the blaze of publicity under which he constantly acts and also on account of the vigor with which his record is scrutinized by the opposing party.

I think the people of the country should be assured that the majority of their public servants are conscientious and trustworthy. If occasionally a rascal gets into high office, he does not last long.

Partisanship tends to inflame passions and puts a premium upon reckless and startling charges. After all this tumult has died down, I think it will be found that, far from being widespread, crookedness and graft among high officials of the government have been confined to very few.

We should not minimize the turpitude of the betrayal of a public trust, but on the other hand we should remember that starting a scandal is very easy and news of scandal is very interesting; and the public will do well to suspend judgment on scandalous charges until proof is forthcoming.

Also, that the atmosphere of the national legislature where Senators and Representatives can indulge in all sorts of wild talk and not be in danger of being sued for libel, is very favorable to the spread of scandal.

FIRST BEDTIME STORY (San Francisco Journal)

Old Man Aesop broadcast the first bedtime story, and the best. He knew Peter Rabbit's great-grandfather, the Hare. He paired him with Tommy Turtle's eminent forebear, the Tortoise. He gave us a fine lesson to think about, namely, that persistency always wins over a flash in the pan.

Tommy Turtle's great-grandfather had one big idea, and he was a stickler. Peter Rabbit's ancestor was just as crazy as Peter is to this day. He was scatter-brained and thoughtless. He had so many good ideas, and followed so many of them at one time, that he lost the celebrated race. You will remember that Mr. Aesop told all the good little children that plodding along with one idea and the goal in mind was a pretty good rule. The plodder has no easier time than the tortoise had in the first bedtime story. He is likely to be laughed at for his pains. Likely to be thought of as thick, and slow, and a great big joke. We still live in a world that likes to give the palm of victory to the meteoric successes.

But persistency still wins and the plodder arrives at his goal. Slow progress irks many people. A job looks like slavery when a man sees so many bounding rabbits passing him on the road of life. But it is the end of the race that counts. When the goal is in his mind and his heart on the winning, rather than the plodding, he may see things in a different light. Mighty is the power of enthusiasm.

People have differed as to the value of inspiration over technique ever since Aesop signed off away back there in the B. C. days. But the lesson remains plain to all who may read it. Brer

Rabbit was long on inspiration. Mr. Turtle was strong on technique. Someone has said: "Blessed are the patient, persistent plodders, for they shall arrive."

FIGHT AGAINST OPIUM (From Hollywood Citizen)

The United States is to have a prominent part in two big international opium conferences, though they will be held under the auspices of the League of Nations. The programs for them are now being prepared, with American members of the committee taking a prominent part in the drafting.

The first conference will be confined to Asiatic countries interested directly in the opium traffic and to European countries with oriental possessions where opium is produced and consumed in large quantities.

If such countries can come to some agreement to limit production or consumption, or both, a big start will have been made toward curbing the traffic on a world-wide scale.

This ultimate aim will be left for the second conference in which all the important countries may participate.

It is only proper that the United States, as the biggest consumer of opiates in the world, should have a hand in such efforts.

The protection of millions of Americans against deadly habits depends largely on what may be accomplished in the next few months, in limiting the production and distribution of opium by other countries.

Corn cobs are rich in acetic and lactic acids, according to professors at the University of Wisconsin.

Little Studies — of — Human Nature

HUMAN NATURE POPULAR

Do you know anyone with more friends than old Human Nature? He may commit grievous sins, but there is always some one to take his part. His standards are not always of the loftiest nor his ideals of the highest, yet there is certain to be some friend to make allowance for his peculiarities and his lapse from rectitude. "Oh, it's Human Nature," seems sufficient apology for anything he does.

Why are the Gumps so universally popular and beloved, and as well-known as the Calvin Coolidge family? Why do millions of men and women all over the United States turn to the comic page of the daily paper each morning to see what Andy and Min are doing? Why do the Gumps live on year after year when other comic strips pursue their way for a brief time and then die and are forgotten? Because the Gumps are Human Nature personified. It is Human Nature exaggerated and caricatured, it is true, but Human Nature none the less. The Gumps are we ourselves, or people like us, having the same ambitions and problems, the same likes and dislikes, the same characteristics.

The novels, the stories, the plays that have lived have won their right to popularity because they depicted Human Nature honestly and truly. They have made their appeal because they pictured Human life as it is lived. No story or play ever becomes lastingly popular if it distorts life and is false to Human Nature. Melodramas, of course, have had their day of popularity but they never live. The villain who is all bad and the hero who is all good are neither appealing, because they are not true to Human Nature—they are not true to life. Human Nature is a mixture of good and bad with the good struggling for the mastery.

Fiction is not worth-while that records events that could never happen, that makes men and women say and do things that men and women, under like circumstances, would never say or do. We read fiction and go to see plays primarily for entertainment and diversion, to take us out of ourselves for the time being, to make us forget our daily cares. But we want to read and see real people. Characters that could not live rebel us. We want our old friend Human Nature present.

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

MY RELIGION

If you believe in evolution— That we ascended from the ape, And point to some big institution, Where scientists so loudly prate, And offer me their best conclusions About the gradual rise of man— I may not swallow your effusions, But I will do the best I can.

Faithful folks go on enthusing, Nor care what evolution says, And offer creeds to me confusing, And swear that judgment's on the way; I listen to their incantations, And wonder which of them is right, And study books of many nations, But still I fail to see the light.

If you agree with John and Peter, Patient Job and Obadiah, Or quote in David's psalms and meter, Or read from good old Jeremiah, And offer all the proof that's cited How Jonah swallowed that old whale— I'll come to church if I'm invited, E'en though I don't believe the tale.

Or even if you come a-wooling, To drag me from my degradation, Explaining what the wise are doing To offer proof of incarnation, Confessing that your mother's cousin Was once upon a time a queen— I may have come-backs by the dozen, But they will not be heard or seen.

For I have found by sad endeavor That arguing has little to it, That if I ask the why or whether The chances are that I will rue it; And as for vain and useless spouting— About the mystery unknown— I've learned to curb my foolish shouting, And let the other man alone.

LA CRESCENTA CORNERSTONE OF CHURCH IS LAID

Solemn Ritual Is Followed By Bishop Johnson at La Crescenta

Easter Sunday of 1924 was a red letter day in the history of La Crescenta valley, as, with appropriate ceremonies the cornerstone of the Episcopal church, "St. Luke of the Mountains," was laid by Bishop Joseph H. Johnson of the Diocese of Los Angeles, assisted by the Right Rev. Bertand Stevens, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor, and Rev. Robert Renison, M. A., priest in charge.

An acre of ground on the corner of Rosemont and Michigan avenues was donated some time ago as the future home of the Episcopal church of La Crescenta valley. Mrs. Janviere giving the site. Last summer $700 was raised at a garden party given by Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas and their home, "Cuddle Doon," and this, added to $3000 from the church by the will of the late Miss E. Brown, formed the nucleus of the present building fund.

Last autumn a woman's guild was formed with the following officers in charge: Mrs. Emily B. Darrow, president; Mrs. Mary Soles of Plinthead, secretary; Mrs. Seymour Thomas, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. A. Haskins, treasurer. The members of the guild gave a bazaar soon after organizing, which put another $200 into the treasury. During this time presents came in by mail and continue to do so—until today there is over $3000 in the building fund.

The beautiful and beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church in laying a cornerstone, was particularly beautiful as there was just enough haze over the mountains to give them a distinctive California blue and lilac tint, and the trees and shrubs on the adjacent properties added to the beauty of the scene.

Promptly at 4 p. m. the procession which had formed in the grounds of the La Crescenta hotel wended its way across Rosemont avenue to the platform erected for the clergy. The line-up of the procession was as follows: Harry Peters and Richard Smith, respectively; distinguished guests composed of prominent business men of the valley; officers of the church and building committee, Seymour Thomas, warden; H. B. Inston, secretary; Howard Reynolds and Harry Peters, choir composed of members of St. Mark's choir of Glendale; lay readers; clergy and bishops.

With Mrs. R. T. MacDonald at the organ "Onward, Christian Soldiers" was swept upon on the organ, the very strains from two or three hundred joyous hearts. The special dedicatory prayers, followed by the recital of the Apostles' Creed and more prayers, were said with a solemnity befitting such an occasion.

A beautiful trowel, especially made for this time was given to Bishop Johnson. The trowel of virgin copper was inscribed with a suitable presentation verse and was further embellished with an enamel insert of the picture of St. Luke of the Mountains as it appeared in its completed form. The trowel, lettering and insert were all the work of the artistic brains and hands of Harry Peters of Oxford, Eng., who is the architect of the church.

The stone was then swung into place, the bishop giving his hand upon it reciting the dedicatory prayer. The assembly joined in singing the well-known hymn, "How Firm a Foundation."

Dr. Renison took charge of the program at this time making his announcements. Seymour Thomas, noted artist, gave the history of the Church of St. Luke of the Mountains, to date, also a statement of the building funds. Mr. Thomas painted a picture of his idea of how the church should look upon completion, and this design, because it is so desecrated, is being followed in the building.

Rev. J. D. H. Browne, who is a pioneer in the missionary field, gave an interesting talk on the work of the small mission church, after which Bishop Coadjutor W. B. Stevens made a most fitting speech. Bishop Johnson closed this part of the program with a speech of thanks for the beautiful trowel, the land from Mrs. Janviere and the splendid work being done by the building committee, the Sunday school and the Woman's guild.

Following the blessing, "America" was sung as the recessional hymn when the clergy and choir proceeded in the same order as at first, and returned to the La

TUJUNGA EDUCATOR TALKS AT KIWANIS MEET

Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey, Head Of Los Angeles Schools, Addresses Club

Ladies' Day was celebrated at the Friday lunch meeting of the Tujunga Kiwanis club in honor of the guest of honor and principal speaker, Susan B. Dorsey, superintendent of Los Angeles schools. Special entertainment features were arranged for the guests, and a large number attended to hear the noted educator speak.

A five-year lease has been taken on the Tujunga Valley theatre by W. A. Ralph of Long Beach. Paul Parnet, local owner, will retire from active operation of the show house, and will devote his time to building and contracting. Mr. Ralph intends to install a new organ that has already been ordered, and continue to book the same high-class pictures as have been shown in the past.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Tujunga Community church was again awarded the banner for the largest percentage of attendance at the district convention held in Glendale.

Corner Is Sold
One of the recent realty deals involving business property was the sale of the corner of Haines Canyon road and Michigan avenue to Genevieve Rupert by the Munson Land company. The property formerly belonged to Wesley Miller. It is stated that the new owner will erect an oil station on the property.

Jimmy "Radio" Smith is organizing a home town orchestra, and has an opening for an ambitious saxophone player. He has several Tujunga men practicing three times a week at his home now, on Grand View avenue.

W. W. Dockery, formerly of Norwalk and until recently connected with the field department of the Union Oil company of California, has opened a service station on Michigan avenue.

Irving T. Gillespie, a recent arrival in Tujunga from Grand Rapids, died at 124 South McClellan street Saturday, April 12. He was a veteran of the World War, and the Monte Vista post of the American Legion took charge of the last rites, Kiefer & Eyerick conducting the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Ruppel recently entertained in honor of their daughter and son-in-law, Harry Peters, of Glendale, of Florence, Cal. The occasion was the celebration of Mrs. Klein's birthday. Many gifts were received and congratulations delivered. During the evening flash-light photos were taken of the group. The presenters were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Perner, Mrs. Mira Perner, Dr. L. H. Perner, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. John Folwell, Roy Baumgardner.

Rev. G. A. Loomis of Pasadena spent the week-end with friends in Tujunga.

In the box of the cornerstone is a copy of a local newspaper, a list of the Sunday school officers, teachers and pupils, of the Guild officers and members, building committee, church members, history of the church to date, of the Guild, and a list of those who have purchased a one-half, whole or a number of blocks of the floor plan of the church.

Of interest to all the visitors was the beautiful model of the church done by Seymour Thomas. This model was placed under the shadow of Old Glory, which dominated the scene. Mrs. A. D. Harcourt of Los Angeles and New York, led the singing of the hymns, having come up from Los Angeles for that purpose.

A number of blocks were subscribed for after the service by people who are interested in seeing the little church erected among them being Mrs. G. Holbrook of St. Mark's, Glendale, and Mrs. E. Card, also of St. Mark's.

After the ceremonies church members and visitors retired to "Cuddle Doon" where Mrs. Seymour Thomas, assisted by officers and members of the Guild, served tea.

With a feeling of great contentment members of St. Luke of the Mountains watched the sun set on the greatest Easter Sunday in La Crescenta valley.

St. Luke of the Mountains
Stone on stone we watch you rise
Till your spire may touch the skies
Of heavenly blue.
St. Luke you guard us from all ill,
As proud you'll stand on Rosemont hill
'Gainst hills of blue.

Why I Am In Glendale

In 1912 we toured the central and southern states, arriving in Los Angeles for the holidays. We loved California from the start. We made several trips back east, each time returning more quickly. We have been living in San Francisco, but the call of the sunny south brought us back. We stopped in an auto camp until we could find a satisfactory place to live, and soon discovered it in Glendale. Here there were no obnoxious odors; no cold damp fogs, but dry, pure and clear air. When we visit my sister in Los Angeles we can readily see why Glendale is the fastest growing city in America. Later on the "ways and means" committee made connections with one of Glendale's fastest growing, best paying industries; so I lift mine eyes up unto the hills in Glendale's praise and says, says I, "right here we stay."

BATTLE OF HAIR NOT HALTED YET

at the two original letters, and then had this to say:
"Hist!! A-ha-ha! The letter by 'Jane Doe' and the epistle from 'Just A Man' were written on the same typewriter. By process of elimination and deductions, such as that other great detective, Whylock Homes, always employed, I would opine they came from husband and wife. Now try to snicker that one out of sight."

Don't laugh at him, he's just a young fellow trying to get along. Read this and weep:

What He Thinks
Dear Bobbed Hair Editor—
Which side are you on now? That's a question. Guess I'm neutral because, I believe like the Good Book says, "A house divided against itself, cannot stand."

The first person to have his hair bobbed was Samson. "Who bobbed it," may I ask? A woman, so I don't see why "turn about is not fair play," do you? Don't have to be honest, say "Yes"—Thank You.

The only thing that gets me, is when one "weaker sex" tries anything once. Columbus took a chance, and ended up in chains. (Get the point?)
It's getting so nowadays, that if a man sees a woman coming down the street he says, "Bet you two to one that name isn't John." I like bobbed hair on women from five to fifteen, but we don't get what we want, do we?

Just a Man
My better half likes bobbed hair—so do I. This Corona doesn't work right. I'd write the letter but I'm afraid the wife will recognize the handwriting. Please excuse mistakes.

In The Spring, Tra-la
In the spring, so the sages tell us, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of various things, such as dates, troubles with his sweetie, studies in high school, and on some occasions poetry and love. Poetry and love are generally found in the same place, but this spring it is different, for in the Bobbed Hair Editor's mail today came a poem that did not pertain to love at all.

It wasn't written by a young man, either, but by a girl, and it's all about bobbed hair. She wears it short, she says, and her song is one of joy. Elsie Louise Tice is the signature and here is the poem:

A Bobbed Confession
I used to think that "bobbed" hair was foolish as could be.
That abbreviated tresses
Would never be seen on me.
My long hair came to my waist
And grew and grew and grew.
My head ached from the hairpins,
Till I didn't know what to do.
One day I went to buy a hat,
As a joke I made a hit.
For long hair looked worse than waist.

Alas! not one would fit.
I then came to my senses,
And suddenly made a vow,
That my long hair would have a short cut
To common sense right now.
My head aches no longer from being
As the scissors clipped along.
At last—I looked in the mirror
And sang a joyful song.
I saw a happy smiling face,
With curls as worn of yore,
And said to myself, "you silly thing."

Why didn't you do it before!
I would like to say to you men right here that if any of your wives want to cut off the "pullman's" and leave the "baggage" car—let them do it. As you know a baggage car is not meant to carry passengers and if the good "engine" hasn't got all those pullmans to pull she won't need to get so "het up" about it. We all like to take a "long journey" but we don't want to pay the fare; so the "Pullman's" must be "cut off" and you know a train that carries only baggage cars is called a mail (male) train and they are usually "faster" than the Pullman trains so let the dear girl have her "right of way" and don't forget she'll have to stop at the end of the "line" and go back the next day to the "station" she started from.

You can make shoe laces, braid a watch chain, make picture wire, sew on a button, make plaster, fish nets and other things too numerous to mention out of her hair. Men, just think of the glory of the "hairless" hair brush, not to mention the pleasure of being able to see both ends of the hair in your soup at once.
Let 'em run men, let 'em have the right of way. They have only commenced; when they have got down the track a little you will see that their skirts will be used only as a "flag signal" at a danger point, and if you watch long enough you will see one of them "president" of the road.
I look forward with no great pleasure to that day when we poor "dames" shall have to wear skirts to be modest, but I imagine most of us would look stunning in a nice large picture hat; and even if we do have to raise the children, and cook and do the washing. We may be able to then get out of an afternoon and have afternoon tea with the rest of the "dames," and hear a lecture from "dame" George Smith on how to keep your "better half" home nights, or how to give the hairless pup in a bath of olive oil to kill the fleas.
Cigar or Candy
Bobbed hair is all right, it is what a woman really needs to make a man of her. When they dress up for a hike you don't

MRS. MONTGOMERY ISSUES STATEMENT

One of Candidates for Presidency of Club Outlines Platform

The following statement was issued this morning by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, one of the candidates for the presidency of the Tuesday Afternoon club. I shall, insofar as possible, endeavor to carry out the policy of the present board with whom I have served as first vice-president for two years.

"If I should receive the honor of being elected to the presidency of the Tuesday Afternoon club, I shall, insofar as possible, endeavor to carry out the policy of the present board with whom I have served as first vice-president for two years.

"I am strongly opposed to any raise in dues.
"I shall, with the co-operation of the board of directors and the program chairman, obtain the very best programs available for the money we have to spend.
"I am deeply cognizant of the fact that we still have a large indebtedness, and it shall be my aim to try and reduce it without making it a burden in any way to the club membership.
"I shall at all times strive to maintain the high ideals that the Tuesday Afternoon club stands for in the community, the district, and the state."

New Battery
Again reverting to the classics, folks, that's all there is, there isn't any more—for today at least. You see, readers, it seems like folks is getting writer's cramp or something, for the supply of letters has been light here of late. Remember, you who favor bobs, the words of that sterling sailor (whatever his name was) "Don't give up the ship." And you folks who wear 'em long and proud of it, here's your battle cry: "Long May It Wave."

How about a few expressions from the fathers, dear old Dads, who never have anything to say about the house except, "Well, how much do you want this time?" Can't they give their views on this hair question? (Note—we are not trying to impersonate a Kentuckian or a Tennessean, so read that last line again.)
Come on, folks, send 'em in. The Bobbed Hair editor is neutral, and your letters are needed to settle this matter that threatens to wreck our fair republic.

ADVISE FARMERS TO SOAK FIELDS

Repairs on Reservoir Allow Plenty of Water for Irrigating Lands

5-ADVISE FARMERS

Owing to an exceptional circumstance having arisen, ranchers of the San Fernando valley will be permitted to thoroughly wet their land during the next few weeks, without affecting the status of their water allotments later on, according to W. B. De Nure, district manager of the department of public service of the Van Nuys district.

The circumstance that permits of this exceptional opportunity is that certain repairs are necessary in the reservoir supplying the valley. These repairs will require several weeks, Mr. De Nure states, urging all farmers to take advantage of this opportunity. Fruit growers are urged to make certain that their soils are thoroughly soaked to a depth of at least six feet, which in most cases will require an application of six to eight inches, or $2 worth of water to the acre. Bean growers and truck farmers in general are urged to wet their soils to a depth of not less than four feet which will require approximately four to six inches, or $2 worth of water to the acre.

Mr. De Nure feels that the recent rains have so altered the situation that it may be possible materially to alleviate conditions later in the season. He is hopeful of a change in the water schedules, he states.

Back Greater L. A. Move

The San Fernando valley is solidly behind the Greater Los Angeles movement. Following the recent banquet in San Fernando, when Harry Merrick of Los Angeles, president of the association, Rex B. Goodell and others were present, the various towns have heard a great deal of the matter.

San Fernando has taken memberships to the extent of $2000 and the Lankershim delegates returned completely sold on the idea and greatly enthused over the gigantic proposition. It is the biggest thing that has come to Los Angeles and vicinity since the Los Angeles aqueduct, according to their statements.

The slogan of the association is "Keep the White Spot White" and to do that it is felt necessary to establish factories throughout Southern California.

Highway Nucleus

The establishment of a network of highways centering in Van Nuys is the ambitious plan of that community.

The City Council on Friday last approved the survey of Hazelton avenue from Tulare to Sherman way. It is reported the contemplated plans call for curbing along this route.

In the projection of North Sherman way a notable highway artery will be put through, shortening the distance to San Fernando, Pacoima and other up-valley points.

Surveys for the extension of Vanowen to the west end of the valley are now practically complete and it is expected that the City Council will give them up for the requisite ordinances in the near future.

The contract that was allowed last week for the improving El Nido street between Sherman way and Saugus avenue will develop another important thoroughfare, as will the work on Oxnard between Woodman and Sherman way.

Rules on Ages for Minor's Auto Permits

SACRAMENTO, April 21.—

Girls who have reached the age of 18 years may secure a license from the state motor vehicle department to drive an automobile without the consent of their parents, but their brothers must wait until 21 years of age. Will H. Marsh, chief of the department, so ruled in effect in a bulletin issued today.

The bulletin points out that the motor vehicle act requires the signatures of parents or guardians on applications for operators' licenses made to "minors." The definition of a minor as given by the civil code is: "Males, under 21 years of age; females, under 18 years of age." Hence, the bulletin concludes, a girl 18 or over can obtain an operator's license without the signature of her parents or guardian.

Distinctive Uniform For Highway Patrol

SACRAMENTO, April 21.—

State highway patrol officers henceforth will wear semi-military uniform of army olive drab or California gray. Sam Brown, chief of the department, has ordered that the uniform be of the latter color, according to Chief Will H. Marsh of the motor vehicle division. Side arms will be displayed in a holster carried on the left side, and badges will be prominently displayed.

"Protection to the motorist, as well as the officer, is the motive," said Marsh. "The motorist knows he is not being halted by bandits, while the officer is safe from stray bullets which might be forthcoming were he not dressed in distinctive uniform."

By gluing badger hairs on the skin of a black fox, is produced a fur known as pointed fox, an imitation of silver fox.

MINNESOTA
MINNEAPOLIS—The bulk of tax payers of this city are strongly in favor of tax reduction through the curtailment of public expenditures. Over ninety-nine per cent of those who have voted in the mail referendum believe that schools should not be touched by the economy plan, but they are in favor of slashing drastically, the park, bridge and workhouse appropriations, so as to free, in some measure, the tax payers from their crushing burden.

DULUTH—It is officially stated here that the Soo line will inaugurate next week a non-stop train from this city to Minneapolis. Giant Pacific type locomotives will be used. It is thought that this service will set a precedent in the Northwest, as the distance covered will be over 150 miles.

In enumerating the qualities needed by a successful fisherman or a public official he included: patience, reticence, reflection, faith, hope and optimism. The faith from which Ananias suffered was not included whether purposely or otherwise was not mentioned.

EAGLE ROCK

START ON SEWER SYSTEM IN JULY

Los Angeles Redeems Pledge Made When Annexation Was Vital Topic

When the first shovel of dirt is lifted on July 1 for the sewer mains in the central Eagle Rock business section, a start at least will have been made by Los Angeles toward this community in fulfilling its annexation pledge. That the start came a year after consolidation is the comment passed by those who never favored uniting with the metropolis.

The mains will be laid along Eagle Rock boulevard, where business for months has stood with bated breath, waiting for a great hour. Now that the time draws near, enthusiasm quickens. It is acknowledged everywhere that Eagle Rock's future depends upon how adequately Los Angeles will care for its sewer problem. The east side will be the second section to be cared for, according to K. W. Hunt, Eagle Rock member of the governing board of Los Angeles realtors. The west side of the community presents a peculiar problem to the engineering department, but it is un-expected that the problem has been made to ultimately care for this district also.

Section 13 made a fine showing at the April P. T. A. Federation meeting, ranking first in attendance, publicity and membership award. Monte Vista won a $5.00 prize for the largest membership, 867. Toland Way, with 214 member won $5.00 in the 250 to 350 enrollment class. ## BURBANK

HORSESHOE FANS EXPRESS THANKS

'Five Bosses' Appreciate Gift of Outfit Donated by Glendale Hurlers

"The five bosses" of the Burbank chapter, Amalgamated Association of Horseshoe Throwers, have unofficially thanked the Glendale chapter for the gift of a full set of regulation horseshoes and pegs. It is impossible for official thanks to be extended because the body is as yet insufficiently organized to adopt a resolution to that effect.

The trouble is, there are five members of the Burbank organization, each of whom thinks that he is well enough up on "things" to entitle him to the position of president. As there are no provisions in the constitution and by-laws for five presidents, a compromise has been reached by the institution of the positions of five bosses, which is enough to provide each one of the aspirants with the position of "boss," each of the five exercising equal authority.

It has not been figured out just how some of the delicate points will be decided when each entertains a different opinion. However, until such time as the five bosses reach an agreement to disavow the affairs of the organization will be in the hands of Boss "Dig-em-up" Attwood, Boss "Slide-em" McBride, Boss "Awful" Offill, Boss "Happy" Minor and Boss "Merry Ha, Ha" Cameron.

Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

HICCUGHS

"Why, Lulu Hunt, what have you done to your face? Go look in the mirror!" A little shocked and terribly excited, I take my pudgy little self to the mirror. Nothing out of the usual is the matter with my face, so far as I can see. Coming back to my mother, I sturdily demand an explanation. Mother, with her eyes a-twinkle, smiles, "You have forgotten to hicough." Sure 'nuf I had!

I can remember very well, when I was a child, being subject to hicoughs, probably because among the causes of hicough are immoderate laughter and over-distention of the stomach. If drinking a glass of cold or hot water did not dispel them, then distracting the attention in the manner I have described, used to be resorted to. Nowadays, we are more careful about inflicting psychic shocks upon children, for fear they will register permanently. I suppose I can attribute the fact that my face has never been perfectly satisfactory to me, to this shock.

We all know what hicoughs are, but it is said that we never know anything unless we can put it into words, so let me do that for you. Hicough (pronounced as it is spelled), or Hicough, pronounced hic-kof), is a reflex irritation of a complex nature, causing a spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm and the rushing of air through the vocal cords. This rushing of air through the vocal cords causes the characteristic sound—hic! The diaphragm is the musculo-membranous partition that separates the abdomen from the thorax.

Hicough is quite a common experience, and the average case is of no significance. Occasionally hicough is a serious symptom. I'll talk more of that later.

Among the causes of simple hicough, over-eating, with over-distention of the stomach, is probably the most frequent, although under nourishment and hunger, especially in babies and children, may be a cause. Alcoholic hicoughs are frequent and the hicoughs of the inebriate are well known—at least those of the stage inebriate. Many other simple causes are chills, coming from a warm temperature into a cold, swallowing air, excessive laughter. The ordinary hicoughs lasts but a few minutes to an hour or so.

The severe form of hicough may be a more or less serious symptom in acute fevers and other wasting diseases. They are frequently accompaniments to hysteria and epilepsy. They may be a reflex from disorders any place in the body—in the gall bladder, pelvis, etc. These severe types of hicough may last for days and are very difficult to control. Considerable soreness, headache and nervousness may result from a prolonged siege.

Treatment: The ordinary hicough usually stops in a short time with or without treatment. Some of the simple home remedies are: 1—Slipping very hot or very cold water. 2—Holding the breath and counting. 3—Standing on the hands or head (not so simple). 4—Pulling the legs up to the abdomen. 5—Pulling the tongue forward. 6—Blowing. 7—Having the attention distracted forcefully. 8—Deep pressure on the sides of the vertebrae in the neck (this is an endeavor to press upon the phrenic nerve which, among other things, has to do with the control of the respiratory muscles, including the diaphragm); 9—Applications of mustard plaster or ice. 10—Throwing the head back, with fingers in both ears, and swallowing water. 11—Gargling with a bitter solution such as quinine or quassia water. 12—Deep pressure over the eyebrows. 13—Drinking the juice of lemon with one-half teaspoon of salt in it. 14—Lowering the head and dilating the rectum.

Of course, for the severe forms of hicough a physician must be called. He may wash out the stomach or give a few whiffs of chloroform, or use electricity and certain drugs—and, of course, if he is a competent physician, he will give a thorough examination to find out the cause.

Hunt Bobbed Hair Bandit

NEW YORK, April 21.—Every bobbed-haired woman in New York is a suspect. That seems to be the idea of the police department.

Driven to desperation by the daring depredations of a "bobbed-haired bandit" who is assuming the legendary proportions of Robin Hood, Raffles and Jesse James rolled in one, police are looking twice at every woman with abbreviated locks.

Although there is supposed to be only one original "bobbed-haired bandit," three women are now held by the police on suspicion of looking like her. Beatrice Ledger and Margaret Martin were taken off a train in Buffalo, and Nellie Myers was snared in a flat here with six men.

All three shun the honor of being New York's most famous at present—outlaw.

Beauty Chats

A WELL KEPT NECK

The appearance of the neck is much more important than one realizes. Most women feel that they have done their job as regards beauty when they have massaged their faces with cold cream. Yet if the neck is old and wrinkled it will give age even to the youngest face, whereas, if it is well kept, firm and young-looking, it will be a great asset to a woman's youth and good looks. The lines of the neck, too, count extraordinarily. Just as a double chin completely spoils the prettiness of a woman's profile, so does a thick lump of fat on the back of the neck completely ruin the pretense of youth.

When a woman begins to get too stout the first place where the extra flesh accumulates is under the chin; after that it settles itself around the back of the shoulders and spreads up to the back of the neck. Now the line from the hair down the back should be slim and graceful and should not be broken either by too much flesh or by a protruding bone at the back of the neck. An osteopath or good masseur can put the protruding bone back into place, you yourself can get rid of the lump of flesh by massaging it vigorously, and, if you are too fat, by dieting.

Massage of the neck is always easy. A simple rotary motion with the fingertips will do very well. Cold cream should be cleansing if the skin is brown or pimply looking, flesh-building if the skin is oily or wrinkled. If it is very bad indeed I can advise nothing better than a cold cream pack, for which you first scrub the neck thoroughly with a complexion brush, soap and hot water, rinse with hot water, and then rub the neck thoroughly with cream or with cocoa butter, bandaging loosely with long strips of muslin in order to hold the cream against the skin. This, like most beauty treatments, is best done at night. A five-minute rub a day will do wonders in keeping the neck young.

only good treatment with creams will counteract this abuse. A fine soap costs so little that you should not resort to soaps having caustic properties for use on the face.

Blonde—Very few people have their eyebrows shaped any more by extracting hairs. You can keep them becomingly arched, however, by the way you train the hairs to lie in place. If the hair is below the arch, brush it up and into the line; and the same when hair grows the other way. Then, with fingertips, pinch all into place.

Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Julia Banks, who has been employed in the interior department of the United States government at Washington for 11 years, has just been appointed assistant United States attorney. Miss Banks is the second woman to receive a federal appointment of responsibility in the legal department. The other Mrs. Mabel W. Brandt, assistant attorney-general.

Maternity pensions will probably be one of the problems taken up by the new French parliament. Deputy Justice Goudat has prepared a bill providing that "for three months immediately preceding or following childbirth an employed woman must not discharge a mother because of absence." This, it is admitted, is only a first step, to be complemented by legislation whereby a certain percentage of French taxes will be diverted to a special fund for maternity pensions.

Tomato-Rice, Italian Style—Peel one large onion and slice it into a frying pan containing two tablespoons of beef drippings or other fat. Let cook over moderate heat till the onion pieces are a light brown, then add one-half cup of washed rice and let fry for five minutes, after which add the contents of a quart-size can of tomatoes. Now let the mixture simmer for about 40 minutes—or till the rice is tender. Season to

Peanut Butter Soup—Buy a medium-size jar of peanut butter (that is, a glass jar which holds about as much as an ordinary jelly glass) and put one-half of its contents into a saucepan with one cup of boiling water; let cook till smooth, then add one teaspoon of scraped raw onion and one pint of sweet milk thickened with one tablespoon of flour. Let boil up, then add one teaspoon of butter. Season to taste with salt, and serve. (For luncheon serve in cups.)

Cheese Dreams—Sprinkle small, unsweetened crackers with finely chopped American (mild) cheese and slip the crackers into a moderate oven. Serve when the cheese has melted.

Toasted Muffins—Cream together one-fourth cup of butter and one-third cup of sugar; add one well-beaten egg-yolk, one-half cup of sweet milk, and one and one-half cups of bread flour sifted with two and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Last fold in the stiffly-whipped egg white and turn the batter into greased cup-cake pans to bake for 25 minutes in a hot oven. Remove from oven, slit each muffin and, just before serving, toast them as you would bread. These are slightly sweetened muffins and they need not be toasted unless desired; they are delicious served just as they come from the oven.

MORALS

If you have read Lewis Carroll's unforgettable "Alice in Wonderland" you ought to remember the Duchess saying, "Tut, tut, child. Everything's got a moral if only you can find it."

All the world seems occupied in finding morals now.

After all, what are morals?—what is morality?

One thing is certain: morals are distinctly relative. The moral code of one race or one nation or one individual cannot be, with entire justice, made to apply without alteration to all others.

It was Thomas Huxley's idea that in whichever way we look at the matter, morality is based on feeling, not on reason; though he considered reason alone is competent to trace out the effects of our actions and thereby dictate conduct.

"Justice is founded on the love of one's neighbor," he wrote, "and goodness is a kind of beauty. The moral law, like the laws of instinctive nature, rests in the long run upon instinctive intuitions, and is neither more nor less 'innate' and 'necessary' than they are. So, people cannot by any means be got to understand the first book of Euclid; but the truths of mathematics are no less necessary and binding on the great mass of mankind. Some there are who cannot feel the difference between 'Sonata Appassionata' and 'Cherry Ripe'; or between a gravestone cutter's cherub and the Apollo Belvidere; but the canons of art are none the less acknowledged."

"While some there may be, who, devoid of sympathy, are incapable of a sense of duty; but neither does their existence affect the foundations of morality. Such pathological deviations from true manhood are merely the halt, the lame and the blind of the world of consciousness, and the anatomist of the mind leaves them aside, as the anatomist of the body would ignore abnormal specimens."

In another place we find Huxley saying:

"The life, the fortune, and the happiness of every one of us, and more or less, of those who are connected with us, do depend on your knowing something of the rules of a game infinitely more difficult and complicated than chess."

"It is a game which has been played for untold ages, every man and woman of us being one of the two players in a game of his

RALLY IN NINTH BY SOX RESULTS IN VICTORY, 6-5

Fans See High Class Brand
Of Ball as Local Crew
Defeat Sawtelle

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.

Walt Heidler, local ball artist, injected in to the fray between the White Sox and Sawtelle in the eighth inning yesterday, did his best to hand Larry Arnold's crew the pastime, but the efforts of his team mates prevailed and in a dizzy ninth inning rally Carl Sawyer's crowd nosed out the semi-pro champions of California by a 6 to 5 score in the best game played at San Fernando road in many a moon.

In the sixth inning, after Corilla had received his third walk in as many times at bat, he hurt his ankle sliding to second, and Young was brought in from the outfield to play. Carl Sawyer's place while Carl clowned at the initial sack. Heidler took Young's place in left. He evidently thought he was booked for the Redondo-Lankershim game in Lankershim, for he went so far out in the weeds that the "G" on his cap was the only distinguishing mark visible. After being waved in by Sawyer and invited to play in the Glendale game, he managed to waddle along until the eighth, when the blow up came. Beatty cracked one right in to his hands, which he dropped, and Berger followed with a fly in his direction. He ran too long in one place, then he went for a bagger. Followed by Guy Cooper's double this was disastrous, and apparently ruined an otherwise perfectly good ball game.

Archie Thornton, toiling for the Sox, and Guy Cooper, former Seattle pitcher, had a real battle. Cooper allowed only six hits, three of which were bunched in the ninth inning, but his wildness beat him. He walked a man in the fifth, sixth and eighth and each one scored without a hit behind him. The Sawtelleans nipped Thornton for eight blows, seven of which were double, the ensemble coming in the sixth and eighth. Cooper walked six and struck out nine, while Thornton gave such free transportation and whiffed only three. Cooper had lots of stuff on the ball, the hot weather being to his liking, but could not control his hook to any advantage.

Sox Score First
The first score was registered in the last half of the fifth, when the Sox got away to a one run lead. Cooper walked Reese, and Woodward hit him with the ball trying to catch him stealing. The ball rolled to left field and the third baseman was finally gathered in. Pallas tapped to Sorenson, who made the play at the plate, but Reese beat the throw and the Sox were ahead.

Sawtelle came back in their half of the sixth with two runs and took the lead away from the Sox. After Reese had thrown out Beatty and Berger had fled to Heidler, Cooper contacted for a very scratchy hit over third that went for two bases. Kramer doubled to left and Cooper scored. Chico followed with another two-bagger in the same direction, scoring Kramer. Doll threw Kerr out, ending the inning.

Not to be outdone, the Sox tied the score in their half. Cooper covered first and a crowd tossed out Orsatt, first man up. Sawyer worked Cooper for a walk, and immediately stole second. Woodward was having lots of difficulty in locating the second bag. Corilla walked. Ennis fanned, but Reese hit a roller to Beatty who, with two runners stood with the ball in his hand waiting for Sawyer to try for home. Sawyer did and beat the throw, which was poor. Boner for Beatty.

Errors Costly

In the eighth Heidler blew up and two doubles, with two errors and Walt, netted three runs, and it looked like the ball game. Cooper started the eighth by walking Sawyer again, and Carl stole second once more. Woodward made a mighty heave to catch him, so mighty that it hit the center field fence and Carl scored.

The Sox had only gathered three hits off of Cooper up to this frame, and it looked bad for Kerwin. The ninth inning provided baseball, however, that brought all the fans to their feet.

Pallas smacked a double to right for his first hit of the day. Thornton, who had two of the three blows credited to the Sox in his hit column, fanned. H. Doll did likewise and the Sox started to leave. Young, however, singled cleanly to center scoring Pallas, and only one run was needed to tie. Cooper lost control and hit Orsatt, and then uncorked a wild pitch, sending Orsatt to second and Young to third.

Single Wins Game

Carl had been entertaining the fans with a pantomime boxing bout at first and by all the cards should have struck out, but the former Vernon seconder sacker delivered a screaming single to center. Young and Orsatt romped home and Guy Cooper tucked his glove in his hip pocket and started for the showers.

It was a fitting end to a great ball game. Kramer, Sawtelle, first baseman, got three hits. The fielding of Reese, at third was short of sensational. He covered a world of ground and made his

CHARLEY DOES 100 YDS. UNDER TEN EVERY TIME

TAGGING ALL BASES

By International News Service.

Our noble Yankees finished second again with great skill and ability, the Senators winning 12 to 3, behind the pitching of Walter Johnson. George H. Ruth got his first homer of the season.

In a congealed pastime of six innings, the Phillies took a fall out of the Dodgers, 4 to 1, aided by Williams' home run in the fourth.

Daus threw cold water on the Brown hopes, confining the St. Louis attack to three hits, while the Tigers went on to win by 9 to 2. Pruitt weakened after four innings.

Plenty of affronted ball players were given the air during the Reds' 5 to 2 victory over the Cubs. Friberg, Stutz and Luque were banished and Roush strained a careless side in the eighth and retired.

Place both feet firmly upon the ground, pin back your ears and speak yourself for the shock. Speaker dropped a fly ball in the eighth inning yesterday. Further, and as a coincidence, the Indians dropped a ball game to the White Sox, 5 to 4.

The Cardinals came up from the rear in the ninth, hopped upon Morrison with vehemence and won from the Pirates, 3 to 2.

With the Braves in the throes of a ninth inning uprising, McGraw removed Huntington in favor of Art Nehf, who fanned the next two batters, giving the Giants a 2 to 1 decision over the Braves.

Charley Paddock, the California sprint king, and present Olympic 100-meter champion, who was recently reinstated by the A. A. U., is going to make his re-entry into the clinders at a time when the competition was never keener.

The pre-Olympic tests will be held on June 14, up at the Harvard Stadium, where they have some of the fastest tracks in the world, and Charley will toe the mark against such speedy guys as Murchison, McAllister, Bowman, Kirksey, LeConey and a few others. Paddock is now undergoing a strict course of training, and will enter the western try-outs, and says he'll be ready to meet all rivals by June.

The Comet hasn't met up with any highclass competition in over two years. His last appearance in a real title event was at the 1921 National A. A. U. championships at Pasadena, when he won fifth and second in the furlong in twenty-one and four-fifths seconds—the latter performance being about (ten yards) a second slower than the world's record credited to Paddock three months previously.

Charley does the hundred yards in nine and three-fifths, or better, every time he toes the mark. Paddock's confidence in his ability to get back into championship form may not be such good news to Loren Murchison, whom Charley does to give the closest rival. These two flyers have been throwing bouquets at one another for some time past, Murchison saying Paddock is through, and that he won't even make the tryouts. As a rival, Charley is a tumbler, as he has chosen the one particular event that Murchison is supposed to excel in, and is centering his efforts on winning it, both at Cambridge and Paris. That is the 100 meters.

Duffy Is Leading In Coast League Hitting

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Taking the place of Paul Strand, last year's slugging demon, Manager Duffy leads and is setting the pace in the Pacific Coast league batting this year that bids fair to keep the individual batting honors in Salt Lake. In eleven games thus far he has batted 43 times for an average of .581.

Lindimore of Salt Lake in the same number of games batted 46 times for an average of .543. Cox of Portland in eleven games and 25 at bats had netted an average of .520. Sheehan of Salt Lake is in fourth place among the batters participating in ten or more games, with an average of .458 for 48 trips to the plate, and Frederick of Salt Lake is right behind him with .453 for 11 games and 53 times at bat.

Haugdall Wins Easter Sweepstakes at Ascot

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Sig Haugdall defeated Leon Durray at Ascot yesterday afternoon, doing the fifteen laps in 8 minutes, 19 to 25 seconds. Thirty thousand people cheered the speed kings and bathing queens, the latter seeming to engage more interest than the speed merchants. Two minor accidents gave the crowd additional thrills. Eddie Winfield hit Johnny Mads' car and Gus Shrader had a narrow escape when a rear wheel rolled off his machine.

John Seymour ran away with both of the cycle events and do-

TIGERS DROP TO FOURTH SPOT AS ANGELS COP TWO

Doc Crandall and Root Hurl
Krug's Crew to Double
Victory Sunday

By R. C. FRANKLIN
For Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—By winning two Sunday games from the Angels retrieved their reputation as baseball players by 8 to 2 in the first show and 7 to 1 in the final fray. "Doc" Crandall and Charles Root were the pitchers who won the game by almost air-tight delivery.

Yesterday's losses shove the Tigers down into fourth place while the Angels take third. A record crowd was present for the double bill and they saw a worthwhile contest. "Babe" Twombly, who has starred as a ball player, proved himself a hero at bat yesterday.

Elmer Myers who starred for the Angels in the opener was chased to the showers in the second and Charley Root stopped 'em thereafter. The Angels scored in the second, third, sixth, eighth and ninth. Jacobs scored a home run in the last canto.

In the afternoon session it was too much. "Doc" Crandall with Gillespie earnt a run off a single, an error and a sacrifice. The Angels scored in the first, second, third, fourth, sixth and eighth—enough to win two ball games.

The Angels left for Oakland last night and the San Francisco Seals met the Tigers here this week.

STUDEBAKERS AND LEGION IN DRAW

Game Called at End of Ninth
To Make Way for Sox-
Sawtelle Contest

The local American Legion team and the crack Studebaker Autos from Los Angeles might be playing yet if there had been no second game scheduled yesterday afternoon at the White Sox park. As it was, Kerwin waved the boys to showers at the end of the ninth. The game was a grand preliminary to the Sawtelle-White Sox game to follow, and although the crowd was not large, the fans present were treated to an air-tight ball game.

Hodges, a new twirler dug up by "Bill" Bryan of the Legion team, did the twirling and performed very creditably. Williams heaved for the Studebakers and kept his hits well scattered.

The playing and hitting of Brannan, Legion center fielder, was the feature of the game. He connected for two doubles and was robbed of another by a shoe-string catch by Diston. The Legionnaires played good ball, only one error being marked up against them in a hard chance.

RUMORS, DENIALS

By FAY GRAY

In the spring a young man's fancy
Mostly turns to love, of course,
But in the fall his wifely
Sues him for divorce.

Weird tales come from other places beside the spring training camps. From out the San Quentin league come wallings and moanings and gaspings of teeth. The official reporter of the league, who writes under the "pen" name of No. 34675, is responsible for the latest. It is suspected that he is a distant relative of one Ananias. Lend your shell-like appendages to his lament:

"None of the teams have good pitchers this year and the San Quentin All-Stars, picked from the four teams in the league, will be strictly non-compo bustos or words to that effect. Most of the players are going out. Our best pitchers, Evans, Lewis and Collins are in the road camps making rough ones smooth and Morens is out on parole."

"In the second round of the schedule the Seals handed an awful drubbing to the Cubs, who were the runners-up in last year's scrimmage. Everything went lovely for the first six innings, when the Seals landed on Johnny Lawler, the Cubs pitcher, for about thirty-five hits and twenty-five runs. "Soup" Gilman made three home runs in this inning with the bases full every time. That ought to establish a record for something."

"Kid" Crull, the scorekeeper, got all burned up and signalled the guard on the wall to blow his little tin whistle and thereby broke up a perfectly good ball game. The Kid explained that he could only count up to one hundred and had no business playing around with a set of figures that represented the racket in the oil scandal. Out of all the free style hitting the Cubs' left fielder didn't have to move from his tracks, but the center fielder won't

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR OPENING OF NOTED FILM HERE

Glendale Theater to Show
Scaramouche Starting
Sunday, April 27

On a par with "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is "Scaramouche" (pronounced "sca-ra-mooch"), the massive Rex Ingram film triumph, to be shown at the Glendale theatre, starting Sunday, April 27, with Alice Terry, Ramon Navarro, Lewis Stone and a stupendous supporting cast of 10,000.

The film, made by Metro at a prodigious expenditure of money and effort, is a picturization of Rafael Sabatini's famous novel of that name. It tells a dashing story of a girl, rich and beautiful, cultured, innocent, enamored of a youth, poor but handsome and adventurous. Against him is a French Revolution. It tells the romance of Andre-Louis Moreau (Ramon Navarro) and Aline de Keradous (Alice Terry). Andre-Louis has been brought up as the ward of Aline's uncle, The Marquis de la Tour d'Azyr (Lewis Stone), a haughty aristocrat and man of fashion, killed Andre-Louis' friend, Philippe, because of his revolutionary sentiments, and on the Marquis Andre-Louis has sworn eternal vengeance. To make matters worse, the Marquis is courting Aline.

Overthrow Monarch among the lower and middle classes of Paris are finally fanned into open revolt. The patriot Danton (George Siegmann) leads the mob to the Tuileries, where the monarchy is overthrown. The Marquis escapes from the massacre at the Tuileries, and seeks shelter at the house where also is Aline, who has been unable to escape from the city. Andre-Louis comes to rescue her and finds the Marquis there. The two men are on the point of killing each other when revelations are made that disclose Andre's real identity.

The thirty principal characters in "Scaramouche" include, besides Ramon Navarro, Lewis Stone and Alice Terry, who were the triumvirate that appeared in Ingram's "Prisoner of Zenda," Lloyd Ingraham, Julia Swayne Gordon and Edith Allen.

Spiritual Tension
As the hour for the services drew near, and the spiritual tension spread through the audience and all eyes were fixed on the lightening east—when suddenly, with incredible beauty, the great disc of the dawn sun thrust up over the horizon, illuminating the heavens with an unearthly radiance. Far down in the valley, the great city of Los Angeles lay robed in silvery fog, the summit was clear and sleeping Glendale lay right in the gleam rays of the few day.

Then it was that the bugles spoke; and at 5:17 o'clock the superb strains of "The Holy City" lifted from the Glendale Symphony orchestra, conducted by J. Arthur Myers, with L. E. Wilson as solo cornetist. Mr. Myers then directed the Glendale Choral club, members of the Burbank Church choir, and the Glendale church choir, in "Unfold, Ye Portals," a majestic psalm of worship that swelled out over the city as the sun slowly rose above the crest of the hill.

Makes Address
The "Invocation" was given by Rev. J. C. Livingston, president of the Glendale Ministerial union, after which Mrs. Constance Balfour rendered a vocal solo, "Hosanna," by Frederick Ward, famous Mission Play actor, then read Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," electrifying the audience with its intense beauty.

Dr. R. B. von Klein Smid's address was on "The Meaning of Easter" and proved full of deep thought. It was well received. The Glendale Choral club then sang "The Heavens are Telling," with the trio part by H. S. Robinson, Marie Oliver and Myron Carman. Mayor Spencer Robinson was present, but did not sing, as scheduled, due to a slight throat irritation.

The services closed with "Benediction" by Rev. C. M. Calderwood. It was just 6:20 o'clock when his last gentle words died into echoes and the great throng broke slowly away and turned homeward.

The services were in charge of Community Services and the churches of Glendale, represented by a committee comprising: V. M. Hollister, chairman; A. L. Baird, Rev. J. C. Livingston, R. Ernest Tucker, Rex C. Kelley, Paul Edmonds, Ellwood Ingledue and Evelyn Ostrander.

REALTORS BOOST CITY OVER RADIO

Glendale's Fame Broadcast In Varied Program by Talented Artists

The name of Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," was loudly proclaimed over the air Saturday night, when a group of loyal Glendale boosters and talented musicians told of the beauties of their city in song and story.

A fitting introduction to the Glendale program was "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms" by Glendale's Singing Mayor, Spencer Robinson.

Following this was Mrs. S. S. Gillett's "Glendale Song," beautifully sung by K. A. Louis, Hawaiian baritone.

Hanson's Messages
Then "My City" was eloquently described by Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty board, who later gave an inspiring message on "Better Homes."

The program, monologue artist, also boosted the city in a clever number.

Other numbers on the program were piano numbers by Lucille Whitson, violin numbers by Hazel Linkloger and a cornet solo by Clyde Lott, salesman for the Gillett & Russell realty firm.

The program was given over KHJ and although no audible applause was possible, telephone messages to "Uncle John" and to those taking part in the program gave evidence that it was enjoyed both at home and abroad.

Montrose Woman Dies by Own Hand Because of Long Ill Health

tle boy, Alfred, aged 6, was playing in the front yard. Mr. Scheffer's mother, visiting at the home, was busy about the morning work.

Listens on Radio
Due to insistence on the part of the younger Mrs. Scheffer, the mother-in-law tuned in on the radio, while the mother stated she was going out in the yard to look for her child. After obtaining her husband's gun from several in a rack in the bedroom and mixing the poison, she went straight across the road, back behind the bushes where no one from her home could see her, and after drinking the contents of the glass, fired the shot which took her life. In her pocket were found several bichloride of mercury tablets.

In Bad Health
Mrs. Scheffer had been in ill-health for some time, but according to her husband had given no indication that she contemplated this step. Mr. Scheffer, a veteran of the world war, and a member of Verdugo Hills post of the American Legion, is too griet-stricken to talk of the affair.

The sheriff's office and county coroner were notified, and the body removed to the undertaking parlors of Kiefer & Eyerick, where it is at the present time.

As there is no question but that it is a case of suicide, the officers say, it is not probable that an inquest will be held. Mrs. Scheffer is survived by her husband and her son.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed. Mr. Scheffer's mother had planned on leaving for her home in the east last night, but will wait until after the funeral.

GILLET BRANDS STORY AS FALSE

Speaker Denies Receipt of Confiscated Liquors Before Committee

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Representative Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, speaker of the House of Representatives, appeared today before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee to defend himself against the charge that he received confiscated liquors from department of justice agents.

Gillett branded the story as "absolutely false." He was permitted to cross-examine H. L. Scafe, former department of justice agent, who had made the charge.

The jury, which includes two negroes, listened intently. Thaw, looking rather haggard, with dark circles under his puffy and protruding eyes, sat calmly with his arms folded as Patterson talked. Thaw sat next to his aged mother, Mary Copley Thaw, who fanned herself vigorously. She had raised her veil.

The court-room was packed to the doors, mostly with women, who listened with craned necks as Patterson reviewed much of the revolting evidence that had been given during the hearing.

Final Term of High School Opens Today
Both plants of the Glendale Union High school opened this morning for the last quarter of the year's work. Principal and Mrs. George U. Moyse returned Sunday night by motor from the principal's convention at Santa Cruz, A. L. Ferguson, vice principal, came back by train, arriving Saturday morning.

Attention is now being focused on the big annual oratorical contests, to be held Friday night, April 25, in the Broadway High school auditorium. This year for the first time, because of the large seating capacity of this auditorium, a limited number of the general public can be accommodated.

Arden Gentry will represent the senior class, Elsie Forsythe the junior, Alice Castle the sophomore and Mary Elizabeth Campbell the freshman. The contests will begin at 8 o'clock.

Merchants to Close Stores on Holidays
The Glendale Merchants' association, meeting at the weekly luncheon in the Egyptian Village today, decided to close their places of business on the following holidays during the remainder of the year: May 30, Decoration Day; July 4; Labor Day, September 2; Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

The action of the association followed the report submitted by R. D. Green, credit manager of the Pendroy Dry Goods company, who was in charge of this matter.

The regular routine occupied the attention of the members during the greater part of the luncheon.

Gasping for Breath
Beavers was found by the house detective in a downtown hotel gasping his last after having swallowed poison. His outcries had attracted the attention of other guests. His dying words were:

"I know I am a coward, but this has to be done," indicating that the blue bead had given him the instructions to commit suicide, although he was in his prime and had all that money could buy.

Among his effects was mail addressed to him at 727 Plymouth building, Minneapolis, also information showing him to be in the grain and brokerage business at Lethbridge and Nobleford, Alberta, Canada. Cash and securities totaling many thousands of dollars were found by the police in his room.

According to R. H. Travers, a Miss Polon had visited Miss Evelyn Polon of 820 South Burlington street only three nights ago. They had a quarrel, Travers believes, but Beavers recounted to him how he had taken an oath under the curse of the blue bead that he would always think highly of him.

In Beavers' collection of literature on occult science was found Raja Yoga's "Vedant," of which he was a close student, says Travers.

Besides his Minnesota and Canadian interests, the dead man was a director of the Buttrick Manufacturing company of this city, and was about to engage in another new enterprise.

"Neuritis may be localized in a single nerve or may be general, involving a large number of nerves."

For quick and lasting relief, pharmacists have for the past few months dispensed Joint-Ease—a stainless, penetrating remedy that when rubbed over the affected parts for about one minute, soaks right in so that no trace is left on the skin.

Joint-Ease is for limbering up stiff joints, reducing the swelling and causing the pain to disappear, and for this purpose thousands of tubes are sold daily—60 cents at druggists everywhere.

Charge Malpractice Against Two Doctors

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Charging malpractice, Arthur H. Funk, San Pedro, filed suit for $50,000 damages against Dr. Norman A. Leake and Dr. A. H. Owen, prominent Torrance physicians. Funk alleges the physicians permitted his wife to leave the hospital too quickly after their child was born last March; that she was later pronounced by the doctors to have "influenza and appendicitis" when, he contends, she had neither.

Head of Revenue Bureau
Tells Plans for Protection of Taxpayers

cases might in some way be prejudiced.

"Under present conditions I believe the department has done exceedingly well in creating high standards of character and conduct which must be conformed to by those enrolled to practice. As has been pointed out, however, the government is almost powerless and can exercise practically no control over those who are not enrolled to practice. I believe that much of the trouble is caused by this class of individuals."

With the purpose in view of permitting only qualified and strictly reputable persons to represent taxpayers in cases to be considered by the bureau, and to prevent corruption and dishonest practices in handling tax cases, a committee on enrollment and disbarment has been created, Commissioner Blair declares.

Probe Applicants

Under the system the name of each applicant for permission to practice before the Treasury Department is sent to the head of other units in the Bureau of Internal Revenue with request for the submission of any information concerning the applicant in the possession of the respective units. A duplicate application is sent to the revenue agent in charge of the division in which the applicant is located. The agent in charge is required to make a careful investigation as to the applicant's reputation in the community and concerning his method of securing business; particularly whether the applicant solicits in violation of the regulations. The agent in charge is required to make a specific recommendation in each case and to append to his report a statement from the collector of internal revenue, containing his recommendation as to the applicant's enrollment. In the event that an unfavorable recommendation is submitted, the case is presented to the committee on enrollment and disbarment for attention.

All supervisory field officers and through them all field employees of the Bureau of Revenue are instructed to watch carefully for improper practices of agents and attorneys already enrolled and to report immediately infractions of regulations by such enrolled agents coming to their notice.

The committee, Commissioner Blair states, has been very active in the enforcement of the enrollment regulations and at the present time more than 200 names are on the list of those that have been disbarred, rejected or suspended from practice.

RESURRECTION IS MIGHTIEST EVENT

Great Personality Back of Every World Movement,
Says Dr. Rasmus

A large assembly was present at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning to listen to "The Easter Message" by the pastor, Dr. H. I. Rasmus. The text was from 1st Corinthians, 15:13-14: "But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen; and if Christ be not risen then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain."

"Back of every document in the world's history, stands a great personality," said Dr. Rasmus. "Back of universal law stands Moses; back of sacred poetry stands David; back of the New Testament stands Jesus; back of the great reformation stands Martin Luther; back of the Declaration of Independence stand a group of immortals; back of the emancipation proclamation stands Lincoln; back of the gospel narrative stand Matthew, Mark, Luke, John; but back of the defense of the gospel with unanswerable argument and logic, stands the great Apostle Paul."

"This event which we celebrate today is the mightiest event in the world's history. Creation itself is as nothing compared with it. All other human events are but as a shadow in comparison with it."

Breaks Physical Laws

"Nineteen centuries ago, when Christ came forth from the grave, He broke every law of physical nature, so stupendous, so audacious was this act. By it he became brother, guide, comforter, Savior to the whole human race. Very appropriate then, on this occasion, are the flowers and the wreaths. Let the roses and the lilies reign supreme. For he is the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley."

"As it began to dawn" the gospels tell us, when the first notes of the birds were heard, when the grass and flowers were at their best, Jesus came forth. His resurrection was announced by a group of angels, by a group of devoted women, by a group of faithful men, and today the same forces are proclaiming his triumph over the tomb."

Forms and Ceremonies

"Not a dead but a risen Lord, no longer hidden away in the tomb. But men and movements are trying today to hide him behind forms and ceremonies, and confessional, behind self-righteousness and human endeavors. Even some pulpits are hiding him by giving cheer instead of the beautiful truth. The message of Christ at that time 'All hail, be not afraid' is a message for the world today. It is the only foundation of hope and cheer. It is a call to each of us to make the world better. Because he lives we shall also live. The Lord has risen, has risen in our hearts never to go down again. Therefore we can say with the apostle Paul, 'This mortal shall put on immortality and death shall be swallowed up in victory.'

Sinclair Answer to Fraud Charge Filed

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 21.—Denying charges of fraud and corruption made by the United States government, counsel for the Mammoth Oil company filed an answer in federal court here to the government's suit seeking cancellation of the lease of the naval oil reserve of Teapot dome to Harry F. Sinclair.

The Sinclair answer upholds the validity of the lease, made to Sinclair by former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, and demands immediate release of the Mammoth company's property from the receivership recently appointed here by Federal Judge Kennedy.

ACT TO PROTECT OUTLYING TOWN

County Fire Department
Organized at Meeting
Of Fire Chiefs

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
LOS ANGELES, April 21.—A luncheon held this noon in Belvedere attended by officials from all over the county, Los Angeles county's fire department officials organized after many months' preparation. Senior Chief Harvey Reynolds of Belvedere, first of seventeen departments to be organized, was in charge of the meeting, held in the home of the local department at 45 Brooklyn avenue.

District fire chiefs, Assemblyman Robert G. Dawson, Undersheriff Eugene Biscailuz, County Forester Stuart J. Flinham, who also serves as fire warden, and many other officials spoke brief of the aims of the department, protect from fire the outlying communities not in incorporated cities and towns.

Engine Given Test

The Belvedere engine early today was christened when its 75 gallon per minute engine was called upon to fight the flames at Whittier and Arcadia boulevards. It will be remembered that the original fire engine of Belvedere was wrecked in a fat accident at Alhambra where it was being inspected by the townspeople there who also will come under the county fire protective organization.

In addition to Belvedere at Alhambra, Downey, Bell, Laguna, Signal Hill, Tujunga, Gardena, Bellflower, Lomita, Artesia, Norwalk, Arleta, Newhall, Sherman, Belvedere, Gardena, and other outlying communities will have the county fire fighting units with paid men in charge of the engines, it is stated.

This plan of protection was upon by the board of supervisors after several disastrous suburban fires last year in thickly populated sections of unincorporated territory of Los Angeles.

Ban on Brawley Dogs Stirs Poodle Owner

BRAWLEY, Cal., April 21.—This city is in an uproar as members of the board of trustees are taking the back streets to at from their homes. "It all comes from an account of an innocent man by giving cheer instead of the beautiful truth. The message of Christ at that time 'All hail, be not afraid' is a message for the world today. It is the only foundation of hope and cheer. It is a call to each of us to make the world better. Because he lives we shall also live. The Lord has risen, has risen in our hearts never to go down again. Therefore we can say with the apostle Paul, 'This mortal shall put on immortality and death shall be swallowed up in victory.'

Now the ladies of Brawley are up in arms because they urge that "Fido" has an inalienable right to come and go as he pleases and especially if his mistress perfumes him all up, ties him with a blue ribbon, curls his hair, gives him a bath and leads him at the end of a silken cord.

The ladies are making an uproar over the rights of "Fido." It is perfectly proper for children to keep off the streets, but "Fido" is a different matter. But the trustees are standing pat.

Silverwood's Charity Reduced His Estate

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Consistent giving to charity in large amounts and over a long period left F. B. "Daddy" Silverwood, former head of the downtown clothing firm which bears his name and widely known in Southern California, with only $10,000 when he died recently according to the petition to probate his will.

An estimate of the United States census bureau gives Oklahoma 2,200,307.
